CAPT. MURRAY IN PITCHING ROLE

Academy Third Baseman Holds Killingly High—Score Favors Norwich Students, 9 to 5, at Danielson.

To save Charlie Croker's wing for the Bulkeley game here this afternoon, Capt. Jimmy Murray took up the twirling task at Danielson on Friday, where the Norwich Free Academy nine played and defeated Killingly high, 9 to 5. Captain Jimmy had the sun on the ball, too, fanning ten when strikeouts were most needed, and although Killingly outthrew the Academy, their punches were not of the run-producing sort.

The game was a bit ragged in the fielding department, Academy being the worst offender in this respect. Pitcher Choquette of Killingly was generous with passes issued six, which, with the eight hits secured by the Academy and the Killings' infield errors, added the Academy to the nine runs they secured. The score:

Norwich	Killingly
Runs 9	5
Hits 10	8
Errors 2	3
Left on base 10	8
Strikes out 10	10
Bases on balls 1	1
Umpire, J. H. Smith.

This afternoon on the campus the Academy will face Bulkeley in what is likely to be one of the crucial games of the league season. With the Academy holding the lead in the league now, they must beat Bulkeley to retain their place at the top and stand a chance at the pennant. Bulkeley is banking on its stocky right-left-hand twiler, Brazil, to outpitch the Academy's pitcher. But it may turn out a false hope. The Academy may be said to have been raised on southpaw pitching this season, since Coach Sullivan has done a lot of work in the box against them with his left wing. They have been raised on southpaw pitching, and they will be something doing all the way from the start.

TRADING SLACKENS.
Trading Checked by Uncertainty of Supreme Court Developments.

New York, May 26.—The underlying strength of the stock market, which has been apparent through the week, in spite of the unusually severe pressure put on it by the Supreme Court decision in prices today when the pressure was relaxed.

The volume of trading diminished considerably today. The electric stocks extended their recent gains largely, but cotton goods for the day in most cases were small. The market was quiet down before the close. The slackening business was attributed to the uncertainty attending next Monday's supreme court developments and the general state of indecision respecting the steel and iron situation.

The movement of gold to Canada assumed larger proportions today, shipments aggregating $1,400,000. The total for the year is now $7,500,000, whereas less than $1,000,000 had been forwarded up to this time last year.

New York 5, Philadelphia 3.
New York, May 25.—The Giants are back in the blue jacket, wearing the position by defeating Philadelphia, 5 to 3, this afternoon. Mathewson, still as formidable a pitcher, with the assistance of double play started by Dener, the fielding of Dener was sensational. The hitting of Dener was timely. His fourth hit won the game. CRIMSON-CORNELL WILL BE A REAL RACE.
Both Crews Composed of High Class Rowing Material.

The boat race today between Harvard and Cornell at Ithaca, N. Y., will probably furnish the best race of the year, with the possible exception of the Poughkeepsie regatta. The Crimson crew this year approaches in form as well as weight those great English "varsities" which are made up of men who had long school experience in addition to their college coaching.

Averaging 130, and beautifully balanced, the Harvard crew has shown in their trials unusual ability to hold a high stroke without losing touch. This is the well for their success in a two-mile race. For some time past they have been pointing his men for Cornell, and Courtney, accustomed to bring the crew along on four-mile fairs with scarcely a serious word to consider at any time, has been so impressed by the Harvard crew that he has been a great deal of talk about Cornell's and plight because more than half of last year's winning boat has been graduated.

The lament is unnecessary, however, for the "old man" is not likely to be put to bed by the new crew. Without doubt, Harvard's boat should show the better form, in rough or in smooth water, for the men have been together all but one, for from two to going on four years. In Harvard's boat almost all the seats are filled by men who come from city-dwelling families, while the Cornell tradition of country-bred athletes is consistently maintained in the eight sweep swimmers of this year's crew.

WOLGAST VS. BURNS.
Will the Champion Solve the Hedgehog's Peculiar Defense?

Al Wolgast tackles the prize ring mystery this afternoon in James Coffey's open air at the Colma, Cal. The boxing world is wondering what the champion will do when he squares off with Frankie Burns, the coast champion with the hedgehog defense, the lad who has had but four professional fights with battlers of class and has yet to taste the dread of defeat.

Frankie Burns has been fighting but a short time. No lightweight in ring history ever had a championship match after but four fights. But Burns is the only dangerous lightweight on the coast, and he is expected to make his name in the good enough to send against the boss of the class this early in his career.

Burns is a peculiar fighter. He holds himself up in such a way that it is almost impossible to find a hole through which to shoot a punch. And nothing in the world can make him unbutton until he gets ready. At least no one who has been able to make Frankie fight in any way except his own. Wolgast may be able to do so. That remains to be seen.

Frankie's defense has earned him that nickname of "hedgehog." It was this funny guard that got Burns' gold and paved the way to his defeat. Hogan lost his temper when he found he could not land on his jackknife opponent, and that loss of temper cost him the fight. For he grew wild in his delivery while Burns kept cool no matter what Hogan tried. Finally when Burns had Hogan all at sea he came forth from his shell and showed that he could fight like a daisy in the end. He gave Hogan a fine lesson and had him looking like a thoroughly beaten man when One Round tried to make over a low blow and he was caught.

It must not be understood that Burns cannot punch—that all he has is his mystery guard. For when he loses he looks just as good as when he is making the other fellow look like a daisy. He has a mystery guard that he can stand toe to toe with the champion and stick.

But if Wolgast fails to get through that defense, if he is baffled as was Hogan, Frankie will have a chance to win by the decision route.

Penn and Yale Tie in Qualifying Round.
Cambridge, Mass., May 25.—Whether the intercollegiate championship cup will remain at the university of Pennsylvania for a third year, go to New Haven for a second time, or make a fourth journey to Cornell, was a question which the preliminary event of the 35th annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Amateur Athletic Association of America failed to settle in the Harvard stadium this afternoon. Pennsylvania and Yale qualified fourteen men each in the sprints, hurdles, the middle distance runs and the field events, and the experts regard tomorrow's finals as a duel between these two universities, were it not for the fact that Cornell, with ten men, is admittedly strong in the long distance runs.

The other colleges qualified as follows: Michigan & Princeton 7, Harvard 6, Dartmouth 5.

PAIR OF FIGHTERS
IN CLABBY FAMILY.
Jimmy, Now Middleweight, Has Featherweight Brother Who Promises Strong.

Instances of two brothers being first class fighters are not many, but we are promised another idea and it is possible that Jimmy may not be seen in action until his hand is entirely mended.

Jimmy, the globe-trotter, has a young brother named Edward who promises a great future. Indeed, Jimmy thinks he will be a greater man than he is now, and that, too, within a short time.

At present Eddie is a featherweight, but as he is only 19 years old, and growing fast, Jimmy predicts that within a couple of years he will be a full fledged middleweight. Then Jim looks for him to usurp the crown and dispose of all the candidates for the title.

The younger Clabby lives in Hammond, Ind. That place really is Jim's home, too, but he is generally spoken of as being from Milwaukee, because his manager, Frank Mulvihill, lives there, and all of the middleweight matches are made from that point.

In all Eddie has had five battles and none of them has gone longer than three rounds, each ending in a knock-out which shows that Eddie can punch. He is bright on long range lines than Jim, being towards the chunky side, as Jim is going to be a good one, is already, for that matter, Jim said last night, "I'm not going to let them hurry him, but I expect he will get bigger right along now. That trip across the Pacific seemed to swell us all up like a bunch of balloons. I didn't get so terribly big, at that, as I only weigh 135 pounds now. I could make 150 for a battle any time."

"Any of the middleweights for me, I can get the matches. This hand of mine is in rather bad shape, but I keep right on boxing with it just the same. Of course, that isn't a good way to get it well, but I've got to have the money."

Clabby is willing to box now or any old time, all the time, in fact, but he is promised the idea and it is possible that Jimmy may not be seen in action until his hand is entirely mended.

Challenging Young Gotch.
Young Handke, the 128 pound wrestler, called on Clabby to issue a challenge to Young Gotch of Greenfield, Mass., for a finish wrestling match, best two out of three falls, catch as catch can, which can be reached through The Bulletin, and is ready for the match at any time.

Challenges New Haven Wrestler.
Jack Monty, who met Young Oloft in Taftville about a week ago, issues a challenge through The Bulletin to Kid Wilbur, the former Montville boy, who is now in New Haven. Jack will challenge the kid to a finish or for any length bout that suits the kid.

New Men for Centrals.
Manager Calkins of the Centrals has arranged a game with a strong team from Wilbraham to be played in the Cranberry May 25th. He has also secured four new men who will strengthen on his team. Calkins will be on the firing line, with Wales on the firing line end.

Cost of Living at Yale.
The cost of living at Yale is going down. Figures published last week on the cost of board at the university dining hall showed that the average price for board was $1.39 for the seven month period ending May 3, 1911, compared with $1.57 last year. The average price for board during the seven month period just closed, was $1.25 for this year as against $1.39 for 1909-10.

As one indication of the depression in the Canadian Northwest, the Edmonton Home Builders' company, Limited, has ordered $1,000,000 worth of lumber from a mill at Hinton, Alberta, will take 400 cars to transport the shipment.
